

Responses to a May 2009 Request for Spanish Translators to help with some of Revenue's form letters.

The State of Delaware's website has a translation service attached to it. You can view it at: <http://portal.delaware.gov/help/translate.shtml>

Another suggestion is to get in touch with the Latin American Community Center. I believe they sometimes provide translation services and could probably translate the letter into Spanish for you, and then you could print whatever version you needed. Maybe not the solutions you were looking for, but it's a thought.

Leslie Hailey

---

We used Delmarva Temp Agency to hire a translator. They were very helpful and had multiple people to choose from. The lady's name is Bunny – she is very helpful. Their phone number is 302-227-1410. Jenifer Vaughn:

I understand that there are state agencies in Dover who get assistance from DSU when they need translators for various languages. Perhaps one of the universities in the state could assist. - Deborah Scanlan

You can always add a field in Access to flag a letter to be translated based on certain conditions, etc., depending on how the program is set up, however, Access or Word does not do the translation, that would require manual or translation software. My two cents.

Nancy J Freeman

---

Dawn Pickett from Dept. of Labor in Dover is fluent in Spanish

---

There is a company that we used called Para-plus translations the web is www.para-plus.com. We also have Carmen Monzon and I'm sure she is capable of doing any translation. Her phone number is 302-535-2423. I hope this will help you.

Thanks,

Sally Wojcieszyn

Delaware Economic Development Office

---

Attached is the information for Maria Perez-Chambers whom we used for translation of our "Legal Handbook" and the Domestic Violence Pieces.

Please let me know if you need further information.

Thank you,

Carmen Gomez, Delaware Commission for Women

Maria M.
Perez-Chambers.r

---

Delaware Tech Owens can help. Try the Office of Instruction. If I am not mistaken there are instructors that are bilingual and probably could help.

Alisha Broughton