TRAINING RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT SESSION

Looking for training content?

Join us as we collectively participate in various elearning trainings and explore with others how they can be used in our classrooms. Office of Management and Budget Statewide training will provide access to their Rapid Learning Institute account and give examples of how they have used the content in their classrooms.

ABOUT RAPID LEARNING INSTITUTE

Rapid Learning Institute (RLI) provides online training and talent development tools for businesses, government agencies, nonprofits and educational institutions in the areas of sales, human resources, management, leadership and safety. RLI's approach is founded on the idea that talent development can only be effective if managers make it a priority and follow up to ensure that learning sticks. The company's signature five to 10 minute modules, called Quick Takes, help managers build their core competency as talent developers by giving them the tools they need to replicate in others the knowledge, skills, attitudes and behaviors that drive performance.
