SYNOPSIS

Communication In A Positive Direction

This workshop develops staff's ability to communicate in a positive direction.

"Communication in a Positive Direction" provides skills and approaches to communicate and learn in the direction of successes, outcomes or results that you require or desire - the positive direction. It is especially useful in addressing critical realities, resolving differences, building relationships and making change work faster, more easily and more completely. Communicating in a positive direction is a part of everything we do.

Work: (704) 820-0794

J. Bert Freeman and T.A.L.K. Associates have provided learning and development sessions, coaching and expert assistance concerning organizational unity, positive direction communication skills and workplace respect since 1993 in the DuPont Company, K-12 schools and districts, The Delaware Division of Social Services, The Delaware Department of Labor, The U.S. Army Test Center, Aberdeen Md. and more. Since then, his Unity of Effort projects, webinars and presentations have introduced organizational unity to the 21st Century. He has a Bachelor's Degree in Engineering from the U.S. Naval Academy and a Master's Degree in Human Relations from Golden Gate University. He is also a former Olympian and U.S. National Fencing Champion. Funded by Delaware State Quality Awards, the T.A.L.K. Associates RPM Course and Unity of Effort programs were each selected in 2002 and 2007 for organizational improvement projects by the DE Department of Labor and the DE Department of Services for Children, Youth and Their Families, respectively.
