The Delaware Learning Center (DLC) is a Learning Management System used by training and development teams to assist in administration, documentation, tracking, reporting and delivery of educational courses or training programs. The Delaware Learning Center (DLC) is the system used by most State agencies. Join us for a demonstration of some of the most important functionality in the DLC. We will encourage an open dialog in to how agencies are using the system to manage their work so you will be sure to learn something new.

PRESENTER/FACILITATOR

Jim Robinson is a Training Administrator for OMB Statewide training team. A key role he plays on the team is as one of the two Delaware Learning Center statewide systems administrators. That role requires he work with vendors to fix problems that any of the 25,000 users may experience. He conducts regular meetings with DLC administrators to ensure they are informed of system changes. He also provides all training to DLC administrators.
